

VETERAN & ACTIVE MILITARY SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITY!

Transportation is a broad and dynamic field that includes careers from pavement design and construction to social sciences and development of policy and guidance. Transportation-related degrees include, but are not limited to: project management, civil engineering, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, policy and planning, traffic management, workforce development, computer science and more!

The Transportation Consortium of the South-Central States (Tran-SET) is pleased to offer a $10,000 scholarship opportunity for military or veteran students enrolled in a graduate program related to transportation at LSU! In order to qualify, applicants must:

- Be enlisted in the military or a veteran
- Be pursuing a graduate degree from LSU in a transportation-related area
- Be able to work on campus on a research project for 20 hours/week
- Complete a graduate degree with a research component.

For more information, please contact Dr. Chao Wang at chaowang@lsu.edu or at (225) 578-9175.

LSU

Bert S. Turner Department of Construction Management